Each numbered clue, except 1Down and 9 Down, is really two clues, side by side but not overlapping, to the two entries of the same length for the two spaces symmetrically opposite each other in the diagram, as numbered. Either word may be clued first, and the division between the two clues is not necessarily marked by punctuation. Solvers must determine which goes where. Lettered clues are normal but are to be entered in jumbled form diagonally down to left and right from the central column (A to the left, B to the right, C to the left, etc). J and K together form one word. When the diagram is complete, the central column will be seen to contain a three-word phrase from a well-known Christmas carol. 1Down and 9 Down (otherwise unclued) are two further phrases from the same carol. Competitors should submit with their entries a normal cryptic clue to the three-word phrase which immediately precedes the one in the central column.
