AZED No. 1,967 'Playfair' COMPETITION PUZZLE

O R A N G In a Playfair word square the codeword (in which no letter recurs) is followed by the remaining let-STIC ters of the alphabet. I doing double duty for I and J KBDFH (see left). To encode a word it must first be split into LMPQU pairs of letters e.g. CR IT IC AL. Each pair is then a rectangle within the word square, the other two corner letters being the encoded form. Thus, in the example shown, CR gives SG (not GS, which RC would give). Where a pair of letters appears in the same row or column in the word square, its encoded form is produced from the letters immediately to the right of or below each respectively. For the last letters in a row or column the first letters in the same row or column become the encoded forms. Thus IC is encoded as CE. When all the pairs are encoded, the word is joined up again, thus CRITICAL is encoded as SGCICEOP. Answers to the four clues in italics, which are linked semantically to the codeword, must be encoded thus in the diagram. The codeword must then be deduced with the help of the answers to normal clues, so that the diagram may be completed. Competitors should submit a normal cryptic clue to the codeword with their solutions.
